Wine expert and author Mark Oldman teaches a seminar called "How to Drink Like a Zillionaire," while wearing a (fake) prison jumpsuit and tattoos. Oldman says the ultra-rich can make their own rules when it comes to drinking wine, but not necessarily when it comes to everything else. Trevor Hughes, USA TODAY

This is how wine expert and author Mark Oldman prepares his audiences for a tasting. Titled "How to Drink Like a Zillionaire," Oldman said the ultra-rich make their own rules about what to drink, especially if they run afoul of the law. In this case, that meant every participant got a pair of handcuffs and a luggage tag from Oldman's "wing" of prison. Trevor Hughes, USA TODAY
